

Earth Day Poem

By Ian Cortez

The earth is beautiful and useful,
With the many amazing animals, some that fly and some taller than houses
The plants and trees that lets us breath
All of these are naturally made and nor good or bad
The reasons that we are still living But soon enough it will all be gone
With all the carelessness of the people in the world throwing trash in the ocean and shores
And even if they just take a few minutes of their day to recycle
They can get rid of 12 million metric tons of purely water bottles for the ocean, Saving plants that give us oxygen, helping to stop global warming , saving animals from extinction Saving the nature around us and from the selfishness of people
